He is wrong on both Mr. Halperin (who he says was then a communist) and his artic[illegible]. The MNR was not Nazi & does have sch. may have had Ernesto Gallarza among his friends). The truth is that at that period the MNR was precisely that - Nazi, just as in the peripheral area some of the resistance groups were pro-Japanese, the objective of each being to use the Japanese as the Germans allies to release themselves from the oppressions under which they lived, and in the OSS days, the Nazis were the enemy of the U.S. whether or not sch. found the political ins of the MNR otherwise to his liking. Sch. found it unworthy of mention that Halperin's successor was a fascist & close to and affiliated with Trujillo
